VIRGINIA GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Thurſday July 24, to Thurſday July 31, 1746.

An accurate Account of the Battle with the Rebels; with Remarks on the Diſpoſitions of the reſpective Armies.

ON the 16th of April, between Four and Five in the Morning, the King's Army began their March from Nairn, formed into five Lines, of three Battalions each, headed by Major-General Huſke on the Left, Lord Sempil on the Right, and Brigadier Mordaunt in the Center; flank'd [illegible] the Horſe under Generals Bland and H[illegible]ey; who, at the ſame Time, covered t[illegible] Cannon on the Right and Left.

They marched in this Order about Eight Miles; when a Detachment of Kingſton's Horſe and of the Highlanders, having advanced a Head of the Army, diſcovered the Van of the Rebels moving towards them; on Notice whereof his Royal Highneſs commanded the Army to form in Order of Battle, which was thus executed. The three Battalions of the ſecond Line defiled to the Left of the reſpective Battalions in the Van; that is to ſay, Barrel's to the Left of Monroe's; Scotch Fuziliers to the Left of Price's; and Cholmondeley's on the Left of the Royal: Then marching up, formed the Front Line of Six Battalions; between each of them two Pieces of Cannon. At the Head of this Line, and in the Center, the Earl of Albemarle commanded; on the Right Wing Three Squadrons of Horſe, commanded by Major-General Bland; on the Left Three other Squadrons, commanded by Lord Ancram.

The ſecond Line conſiſted of Five Battalions placed to face the Openings of the Front Line with three Pieces of Cannon placed between the firſt and ſecond Battalions, on the Right and Left of the ſame Line, in order, that if the Enemy either broke through the Center, or out flanked either the Right or Left of the Front, they might conveniently play upon them.

To ſupport both, and as a final Reſerve, was placed the remainder Four Battalions, wing'd on the Right and Left by Kingſton's Horſe.

In this Diſpoſition the Army continued ſome Time; but the Body of the Rebels not advancing, it fell into marching Order again; which continued until the Front were within a Mile of the Enemy: Then formed again into fighting Order, as before.

The Rebel Army formed their Front in Thirteen Diviſions, being ſo many Clans under their reſpective Chiefs, with Four Pieces of Cannon placed before their Center, and the ſame Number on each Wing. The Center was headed by Lord John Drummond; the Right Wing by Lord George Murray; and the Left by the Perſon who calls himſelf Duke of Perth. To ſupport the Front Line occaſionally, and covered by ſome Stone Walls on the Right, was diſpoſed Fitz James's Horſe and four Companies of French Picquets; on the Left one Body of Horſe, made up with the young Italian's Guards, ſome Huſſars, and the Perthſhire Squadron; and five Companies of Lord John Drummond's Foot. Open to the Center of the Front Line was the young Italian placed with his Body Guards. In the Rear a Line of Reſerve, conſiſting of three Columns: The firſt Center on the Left, commanded by Lord Kilmarnock; the Center Column by Lord Lewis Gordon and Glenbucket; and the Right by Roy Stuart. Next, and directly in the Rear of Glenbucket, was the Regiments of Perth and Ogilvie ſtationed, as the final Reſerve.

In this Order the Rebels began firing on the King's Army, about 2 o'Clock, with their Cannon, which being ill ſerved did little Execution. The firing was returned by the King's Army with ſuch Succeſs, as put the Rebels in great Diſorder. They diſliked this Way of fighting, and therefore made a Puſh on the Right of the King's Army; when his Royal Highneſs waited to receive them in Perſon. This they did in a kind of Bravado, to draw the King's Troops forward; but finding themſelves deceived, they turn'd their whole Force to the Left; and the Weight of their Fury fell chiefly on Barrel's and Monroe's Regiments, where they attempted to flank the King's Front Line; but Wolfe's Regiment advancing, entirely defeated their Deſign. In the mean Time the Cannon kept playing upon them with Cartridge Shot. General Hawley with ſome Highlanders had opened a Paſſage through ſome Stone Walls to their Right, for the Horſe, which advanced on that Side, while the Horſe on the King's Right wheel'd off upon their Left, diſpers'd their Body of Reſerve, and met in the Center of their Front Line in their Rear; when being repulſed in the Front, and Numbers cut off, they fell into an univerſal Confuſion. The Horſe on their Backs made a dreadful Carnage; the Foot moved only in due Order; but Kingſton's Horſe from the Reſerve galloped up briſkly, and falling in with the Fugitives, did excellent Execution; the reſt the Reader is to gueſs: Having only left to obſerve that on the Appearance of the Two Bodies of Horſe and Dragoons advancing from the King's Right and Left, upon the Rebels Body of Reſerve, the young Italian never made the leaſt Motion to oppoſe them; but inſtantly wheel'd off with his Guards to the Right, and rode full Gallop through between Glenbucket's and Stuart's Columns; and as we are credibly informed, never look'd back till he arrived at Aird.

The different Diſpoſitions of theſe two Armies was in ſome Meaſure owing to their reſpective Situations. The King's Army was to fight uncovered; the Rebels covered behind the Walls: But when their Impatience to get out of the Way of the King's Cannon, puſhed them on attacking, they neceſſarily either loſt the Benefit of their Reſerve, or the Reſerve muſt loſe their Cover; which they not chuſing to do, the Impetuoſity of the Front called them too far from their Reſerve; and then having no Guard in their Rear, the Horſe from the King's Right and Left eaſily did their Buſineſs.

On the other Hand, the Diſpoſition of the King's Army was, perhaps, as juſt as the Mind of Men was capable of contriving. If one failed, a Second ſupported; and if that failed, a Third. The Enemy could no Way take two Pieces of Cannon, but three muſt play directly upon them; nor break one Regiment, but two were ready to ſupply the Place. If the Rebels were repulſed they were routed; if any Part of the King's Army, they rallied and were ſupported. Had the King's Army attacked, it might not have been ſo well; becauſe then the Rebels would have been cloſe and covered; and conſequently the breaking of them more difficult.

Succeſs is ſometimes the Effect of Accident; but in this Caſe chiefly of Skill. If his Royal Highneſs did not form the whole himſelf, it is immaterial; he that knows when he is well adviſed, is a Judge of what is Right: And to purſue good Advice, is one of the diſtinguiſhing Characteriſtics of a great General.

Note, A Plan of the Situation of both Armies, will appear on the other Side.

Belfaſt, April 18. We hear that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland has made an Offer of beſtowing the Lands which belonged to the Rebel Chiefs, among their Tenants, to them and their Heirs for ever; and this has taken ſo good an Effect, that the Rebels are daily flocking in by Hundreds, ſurrendring themſelves Priſoners of War, and imploring his Highneſs to uſe his Intereſt with his Royal Father to obtain Mercy.

LONDON, April 17.

There is a Report, that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland will go to Flanders this Summer.

April 18. General St. Clair is ſoon to ſet out for Cape-Breton with 10 Regiments, and 12 Men of War of the Line.

There are 12 Pieces of Cannon, 24 Pounders each, put on board a Ship at the Tower, with a conſiderable Quantity of Powder, Ball, &c. deſign'd for Cape Breton.

April 19. There are Letters in Town which give an Account, that ſeven Engliſh Men of War have blocked up the Port of Oſtend in ſuch a Manner, that no French Ship can either come out or go into it.

Verſailles, April 10. O. S. The Marquis de Pullivicino has perfectly ſucceeded in the Commiſſion with which he was charged by the Republick of Genoa, the King in Council having reſolved to maintain that State in the Sovereignty and lawful Authority which it has a Right to exerciſe over the People of the Iſland of Corſica. M. Gilles arrived here Yeſterday from Holland, and has had his firſt Conference with the Marquis de Argenſon, which laſted more than an Hour; and it was afterwards obſerved that both theſe Miniſters appeared very well ſatisfied.

Amſterdam, April 16. O. S. Letters have been received here from Smyrna, dated the 19th of February, which mention a Truce of ſix Months having been concluded between the Porte and Seach Nadir.

Hague, April 17. O. S. Letters from Italy of the 1ſt adviſe, that the Spaniards are very cloſely blocked up in Parma, and every thing tends towards a happy Determination. The Garriſon, which is already retired into the Caſtle, having no Hopes of Relief, cannot fail of being made Priſoners of War. It's agreed, that of the 12,000 Men which M. de Caſtellar had under his Command before the taking of Guaſtalla, no more than 4000 remain, the reſt having been either killed, taken Priſoners, or have deſerted.

Dublin, April 18. Private Letters from London ſay, that the Parliament hath granted 500,000 l. to the Queen of Hungary, 200,000 l. to the King of Sardinia; that the Dutch will declare War againſt France, and will have 40,000 Men in Flanders; and that the Queen of Hungary will have 40,000; and that there will be a great Body of Engliſh, and 18,000 Hanoverians.

It is ſaid that the Money taken from on board the Hazard Sloop in the Bay of Tongue, has by his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland's Order been diſtributed, viz. 500 l. to Capt. Mackay, who ſeized her, 500 l. to the Commander of the Sheerneſs Man of War that forced her aſhore, and in Proportion to the other Officers; and that the reſt was diſtributed to the Crew of the Sheerneſs and Capt. Mackay's Men, which amounted to five Guineas each Man.

Beſides the Money already mentioned to be found on board the Hazard Sloop of War, there has been ſince diſcovered 1000 French Guineas, beſides ſeveral other large Sums, which were concealed in divers Places of the ſaid Veſſel.

We hear that the Dobb's Galley, and Californía, are now out of the Dock, and will be ready to ſail the latter End of this Month: And that the Lords of the Admiralty have granted Protections for three Years, as an Encouragement to all Seamen, who ſhall enter on board theſe Ships for the Voyage through Hudſon's Straits, to find out the North-Weſt Paſſage.

Lond. April 22. Yeſterday both Houſes of Parliament voted congratulatory Addreſſes to his Majeſty, and their Thanks to his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, for his important Services in ſubduing the Rebels.

Impenetrable as the Councils of the King of Pruſſia ſtill are, there are ſome who pretend to be certain he will at laſt take Part with the Powers in Oppoſition to France, while others with equal Certainty, are as poſitive that he will only employ his Influence to bring about a Peace, by joining againſt whomſoever ſhall not ſubmit to thoſe Conditions which he ſhall think reaſonable.

From the LONDON GAZETTE.

Whitehall, April 29. This Day arrived an Expreſs from Edinburgh, with the following Advices.

Edinburgh, April 26. The Victory obtained over the Rebels by his Royal Highneſs the Duke, appears every Day to be more compleat and deciſive.

Thurſday Morning about 3 o'Clock, being the Day after the Battle, the Pretender's Son, with Sheridan and Sullivan, and no other Attendants or Servants, was ſeen paſſing Fort Auguſtus in his Way to Glengary. Fort Auguſtus is burnt and blown up, and there is neither Garriſon nor Proviſions there.

On Saturday the 19th, Lord Perth, and his Brother called Lord John Drummond, were at Garricmore, within 12 Miles of Fort Auguſtus, on their Way to Lochabar, attended only by their Servants. The latter ordered the French Horſe of Fitz James's Regiment, who had followed the Pretender's Son and him out of the Battle, to return to Inverneſs and ſurrender themſelves Priſoners: And the General and laſt Order given by the Rebel Officers to their Men, was to ſhift for themſelves.

Orders are given along the Coaſt to prevent any of the Rebels from making their Eſcape by Sea.

Edinburgh, April 20. The Accounts from the Army are ſtill continuing favourable, beyond the warmeſt Wiſhes. By an Account of this Day, it appears that 1700 were buried from the Field of Battle, and in the Purſuit, where Obſtinacy made a great many fall; it appears in all, that 3600 have been killed. This Victory was gained with the Loſs of 47 of the King's Troops killed and 258 wounded. His Royal Highneſs has ſince detached about 200 Men to ſearch for the Rebels in Lord Lovat's Lands. They are returned with Abundance of Priſoners, and have burnt his Houſe, having been firſt fired upon by a Party of the Rebels, and have carried off Horſes, Cows, Sheep, Meal, &c which are diſtributed for the Uſe of the Army.----- Sullivan, to whom the Magazine gives ſuch a large Character, is taken dangerouſly wounded; Lord Balmerino is a Priſoner, and Glenbucket; Cluny, Chief of the M'Pherſons, is ſeized by a Detachment of the Garriſon of Fort William.-----The Clans come in hourly to ſurrender, and his Royal Highneſs has now 1400 Priſoners: He has ſhipp'd off the French for Newcaſtle. Ten Deſerters from different Regiments are hanged.

The Earl of Cromarty and his Son, with the ſecond Bariſdal, and 150 Men, are brought to Inverneſs, they were taken by the Sutherland and Lord Rea's Militia; and one Letter ſays, that the Diſpute was obſtinate, many killed, and ſeveral puſh'd into the Sea, where they were drowned. In general the Route has been ſo total, that we are well aſſured there are Hundreds, nay Thouſands, which in the Cloud of Night have paſſed at the Ford of Frew, Higgin's Nook, &c. The Pretender's Maſter of Horſe was one who is catched, and on Friday laſt was examined by General Blakeney; he declared that the Victory was entire, and that the Duke of Perth, at Ruthven in Badenoch, had given him a Crown, and bid him ſhift for himſelf, along with many others; and that their Body was diſperſed for want of Proviſions.----The Stirling Militia is raiſed, and guard the Frew, &c. Ten Priſoners are already fallen into their Hands.----Orders were found amongſt the Rebel Priſoners to give no Quarters to the King's Troops.

WILLIAMSBURG, July 31.

We have very credible Information from the Borough of Norfolk, that on the 23d Inſtant, they made extraordinary Rejoicings there, upon the good News of the Defeat of the Rebels by his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland. The Account we have of it is as follows:

The Effigie of the Pretender, in the full Proportion of a Man, in a Highland Dreſs, reſembling that which he appeared in, by the Account given by a Perſon in Town, who ſaw him a few Months ago, was placed in a Two-arm'd Chair; and the following Cavalcade was marſhall'd, viz. 1ſt. Three Drummers, 2d. a Piper, 3d. Three Violins, 4th. Six Men with long white Rods, with Slips of Paper like Saſhes over their Shoulders, and different Mottoes wrote on them in Capital Letters, as, Liberty and Property, and no Pretender. No Pretender. No Wooden Shoes, &c. &c. 5th. a Man in Women's Cloaths, dreſs'd like a Nurſe, carrying a Warming-pan, with a Child peeping out of it. 6th. The Pretender in his Two-arm'd Chair, drawn in a Cart. 7th. Six Men, two and two, with drawn Cutlaſſes, and laſtly, A vaſt Crowd of People of the Town and Country, who thus marched in Proceſſion thro' all the Streets, 'till they came (about One o'Clock) to the Center of the Three main Streets, where a Gibbet being erected for the Purpoſe, the Cart was drawn under it, and his Pretendership was immediately exalted, to the general View and Satisfaction of the Spectators. Liquor was provided for the better Sort; and the Populace had great Plenty in Caſks ſtanding with one Head out. On drinking the Health of his Majeſty King George II, a Royal Salute was made of 21 Guns planted in two different Places; which was anſwered by a Number of others from the Veſſels in the Harbour. Then followed other Loyal Healths, as, the Royal Family, His Royal Highneſs the Duke, the Governor and Virginia, Succeſs to his Majeſty's Arms, &c. each Health being proclaimed by the Guns at the two different Parts of the Town, and Veſſels in the Harbour. Thus the Gentlemen continued at the Court-houſe, 'til the Evening; when the Windows were all over the Town beautifully illuminated. Then a large Bonfire was kindled round the Gibbet, and in a few Minutes the Effigie dropt into the Flames; then there was another Royal Salute, accompany'd with loud Huzza's, and Acclamations of Joy. To conclude, that the Ladies might alſo partake of the Rejoicings on this extraordinary Occaſion, the Gentlemen entertained them with a Ball; and the Evening concluded with innocent Mirth and unaffected Joy, becoming a People Loyal to their King, and zealous for their Country's Good.

We hear from Maryland, That a Ship lately arrived in Choptank River, from England, has brought the printed Papers to the End of May, which ſay, the Grand Armies of the French and the Allies in Flanders were ſo near to each other, that a Battle was daily expected. And a private Letter ſays, Advice was brought that there had been a Battle; and that the French were beaten. We hope for a Confirmation of this News.

It is ſaid his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, is preparing to go to Flanders; and that a conſiderable Number of Britiſh Forces will be ſent there.

We hear from Rappahannock, That the Ship Reſtoration, is arrived in that River, in 10 Weeks from London: By whom we hear, That the Breſt Squadron conſiſting of 30 Men of War, ſeveral Privateers, and a large Number of Tranſport Ships, were put out to Sea; but whither bound was not yet known; ſome gueſs they are deſigned for the Weſt-Part of Ireland, others for Cape-Breton, and others for ſome of our Sugar-Iſlands.

The Ship Annabella, is arriv'd in York, from Glaſgow.
